

Plumbers, Gas Fitters and Electricians Act 1995

Plumbing, Gas Fitting and Electrical

Workers Registration

Guidelines for Applicants

Who needs to be registered?

If you are intending to perform work covered by the Plumbers, Gas Fitters and Electricians Act 1995, you will need to hold a registration. The scope of work you will be entitled to perform will depend on your qualifications.

Plumbing work includes water plumbing work, sanitary plumbing work, or draining work, or the installation or testing of backflow prevention devices.

Gas Fitting work includes the installation, alteration, repair, maintenance or disconnection of any pipes or equipment to convey or utilise gas (including associated gas ventilation equipment) downstream of:

- the outlet of a meter installed for measuring consumption of reticulated gas supplied by a licensed gas supplier under the Gas Act 1988; or
- the outlet of any gas storage tank or cylinder.

Electrical Work includes install, alter, repair or maintain an electrical installation, subject to conditions limiting (in any way) the work that may be carried out under the authority of the registration.

A workers registration does not allow you to contract for work as a business.

Am I eligible to obtain a registration?

A person is entitled to be registered as plumbing worker or gas fitter, or electrician if they meet the following criteria:

- You hold the required qualifications, or are undertaking an apprenticeship under an approved qualification.

If you are applying as an apprentice, please refer to the Apprenticeships guideline.

If you hold qualifications gained overseas, please refer to the PGE Overseas Recognition guideline.
